HUNS' DEFEAT DESCRIBED BY WAR PRISONER

AMERICAN CAPTURED IN 1941 REVELS IN FREEDOM

(Editor's Note: Two days ago Godfrey H. P. Anderson, London-born Associated Press correspondent who was captured in Libya in November, 1941, saw some American soldiers arrive just across the river from his prison camp. He shouted across to them, got in a boat and soon shook hands with new found Allied friends—U. S. Privates Richard Sin-cavage of Ranshaw, Pa., and Kenneth Symons, Wilmett, Ill. Here is Anderson's story and three years and a half in captivity—a period in which he watched the disintegration of the German military machine.)

BY GODFREY H. P. ANDERSON
With the U. S. First Army at Lollar, Germany, March 30 (AP)—For the first time in three and a half years I am a free man.

Within a half hour of my rescue I was in a jeep rolling back to regimental headquarters—and civilization—as American tanks rumbled forward in staggering numbers, following up the great American drive.

Even now, 48 hours after I first heard an American voice hailing me across the Lahn river, I can hardly believe I am really free. The bewildering sight of thousands of vehicles pouring toward the front in a profusion I never knew when last I was an active war correspondent in North Africa in 1941 gave me a kind of Rip Van Winkle feeling.

I discover new wonders every minute—every man now seems to carry a Tommy gun where formerly there were not more than a couple to a unit. New and improved methods of radio communications, supply and ration improvements—all these things beyond the wildest dreams of the soldier of 1940.

Not until I was many miles from the front area did I really feel secure from possible recapture. So many spells of bad luck have dogged me since the day Rommel's Africa corps roared me during a lightning Panzer counterattack near Tobruk that I almost ceased to believe that my luck would turn.

At first I was held at Bangazi in Libya, and hoped the British might reach me in time to effect a rescue. But the Germans soon handed me over to the Italians who put me aboard a cruiser and took me to Taranto and that hope died.

There followed two years in an Italian prison camp. Every hour of every day through the unceasing monotony of prison life I waited for the hour when Italy would go out of the war and restore my freedom. When Mussolini fell I was at Bologna and hopes of release were at hand. But a German SS force arrived on the heels of the armistice and after a freedom lasting but a few hours I found myself with 50 others half-suffocated in a cattle car traveling north through the Brenner Pass.

Maps Home made

Another 18 months as a prisoner was spent in Germany, mostly at a camp in Hadamar village near Limburg. This latter was transformed into a senior British officers' camp and had nearly 300 officers, including Maj. General Victor Fortune, 11 brigadiers, one naval captain and many others.

HEAVY BOMBERS LEAP THE ALPS

Brenner Pass Retreat Route From Italy Is Pounded

BY NOLAN NORGAAARD
Rome, Mar. 30 (AP)—Unescorted U. S. heavy bombers of the 15th Airforce leaped the Alps today and bombed rail yards and stations at Vienna and the Austrian mountain town of Graz which are impelled by the Red Army's advance.

The 12th Airforce B-25s resumed their methodical pounding of the vital Brenner Pass from Austria into northern Italy, attacking a rail bridge at San Ambrogio, 12 miles north of Verona. Thunderbolts destroyed 20 rail cars and attacked ammunition dumps and enemy positions in northern Italy.

Gen. Mark W. Clark has predicted the German withdrawal from Italy and an Allied ground offensive sooner or later to link up with other allied forces in the north, and enemy escape lines leading through the key Brenner Pass have been kept under heavy attack.

The heavy bombers bombed Vienna and Graz by instrument because of heavy cloud layers, but some bombardiers found holes in the clouds and plummeted their explosive charges on the targets visibly.

The day's operations boosted the total bombs dropped by Italy-based craft during March to more than 31,000 tons, surpassing the previous high mark of 30,373 tons dropped in May, 1944.

Allied headquarters told only of slight ground action yesterday, when 900 American, British, South African and Brazilian fighter-bombers hammered enemy communications, supply dumps and airfields in northern Italy.

Third Army Gets Praise Of Patton For Record Feats

With the U. S. Third Army, March 30 (AP)—Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., issued a general order a week ago to the Third Army and the 19th tactical air command and it was disclosed today, asserting that between January 29 and March 22 the Third Army had taken 6,424 square miles of territory from the enemy and had captured 3,072 cities, towns and villages.

"You captured 140,112 enemy soldiers, and killed or wounded an additional 99,000, thereby eliminating practically all of the German Seventh and First armies. History records no greater achievement in so limited a time, Patton's order said.

"The world rings with your praises: Better still, Gen. Marshall, Gen. Eisenhower and Gen. Bradley all personally have commended you. The highest honor I ever attained was that of having my name coupled with yours in these great events."

CRUSHED BY HORSE

Traverse City, March 30 (AP)—Charles Lardie, 70, secretary of the Peninsula Telephone company for many years and a Grand Traverse county welfare commissioner, was fatally injured in the barn on his farm, apparently when crushed against a wall by a horse. He was found unconscious in a stall by a farmhand Thursday and died today in Munson hospital.

Volunteer Counsel Says Dog Must Die For Killing Child

Los Angeles, March 30 (AP)—Wool, the Staffordshire bull terrier which killed a 21-month-old baby, was granted a one-week reprieve from the gas chamber today but Joseph Scott, white thatched attorney for Joan Berry in the Charlie Chaplin paternity case, appeared unexpectedly to argue against a restraining order that is delaying destruction of the dog.

"Let's set the record right," declared Scott dramatically. "The restraining order states the dog merely bit the child. That dog killed the child. I know what these parents are going through. I had a child who died after being bitten by a dog 25 or 30 years ago."

Scott, who did not elaborate on his own child's death, argued that the court was without authority to act. The attorney appeared as volunteer counsel for the child's parents.

HITLER U-BOAT YARDS BLASTED

American Aerial Force Of 2,300 Bombers Reich Targets

BY CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
London, Saturday, March 31 (AP)—Strong force of RAF Mosquitos attacked Berlin again last night after the mightiest American aerial force sent aloft this year—more than 2,300 bombers and fighters—showered 4,000 tons of bombs in daylight attacks on five U-boat yards in Germany's largest North Sea ports of Bremen, Hamburg and Wilhelmshaven.

German radio alarms logged bombers over most parts of northwestern Germany last night but the only definite target announced by the British air ministry was Berlin which was attacked for the 38th night in the last 39 nights.

The greatest U. S. attack of the war on enemy naval installations yesterday strangled chances of the crumbling German army of getting seaborne supplies and reinforcements. It also dealt a massive blow against the Nazis' spring submarine plan.

There was an indication—but no confirmation—that the attack by more than 1,400 Flying Fortresses and Liberators and a screaming cloud of 900 fighters of the U. S. Eighth Force was aimed to catch large units of the German navy anchoring at Wilhelmshaven.

Plot To Destroy Panama Canal Is Revealed In Chile

Santiago, Chile, March 30 (AP)—The influential newspaper La Nacion declared today that an attempt to destroy the Panama Canal had been uncovered with the detention of a German saboteur named Von Appen and linked the purported attempt with the destruction of several Chilean ships which the paper laid to sabotage.

The newspaper made the assertion in a story headlined "Shipwrecks of the sailing vessel Lautaro and the steamship Mapocho and others were the work of sabotage." It also named Ludwig von Bohlman, former air attaché of the German embassy in Chile, as "the master mind of the sabotage organization."

TAX LIMITATION CHANGE SOUGHT

Two Amendments Will Be On Ballots Monday For Voters

Lansing, March 30 (AP)—Voters at the spring election Monday will face two amendments to the constitution sponsored by state officials, one liberalizing the controversial 15-mill tax limitation and the other authorizing the state to improve and control streams.

Governor Kelly and the state elective officials have endorsed the tax limit liberalization as part of a program to permit local units of government to increase taxes to finance postwar projects designed to relieve unemployment.

It would allow the 15-mill limitation to be increased to three per cent of the assessed valuation for not more than 15 years to buy land, erect public buildings or public works, make extensions to such buildings or make other capital improvements if approved by a majority vote of the taxpayers affected.

The present constitution provision allows the mill tax limitation to be raised to five per cent of assessed valuation for five years upon a two-thirds vote of the electors.

Asking state officials to campaign for the amendment, Kelly asserted spreading the increase over 15 years would make the burden lighter and more acceptable to the taxpayer.

Proposal No. 2 is backed by the state department of agriculture, Michigan State college officials and other agricultural experts as a means of providing a coordinated statewide approach to problems of drainage, flood control and soil erosion.

Three Bank Bandits Caught In Illinois; $20,000 Recovered

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 30 (AP)—The FBI at Springfield reported the capture late today of the third of a trio of bandits who robbed the First National Bank at Greenville of more than $20,000 in a holdup early today. FBI men said all the loot had been recovered.

Don Teague, acting agent in charge of FBI headquarters here, said tonight the first two men captured have been identified as Charles Fauls, 26, of (1232 Colingwood) Detroit, Mich., and Stanley B. Singer, 31, of Hammond, Ind., and a third was Raymond J. Boone, 17, of Indianapolis.

Howard L. Doyle, U. S. attorney for the southern federal district of Illinois, said bank robbery charges will be filed against the men. The three were taken to the Montgomery county jail at Hillsboro.

U. S. Submarines Bag Eleven Enemy Ships

Washington, Mar. 30 (AP)—United States submarines have sunk 11 more enemy vessels, including a large aircraft carrier, 2 destroyers and 2 escort vessels, in Pacific waters, the Navy announced today.

Noncombatant vessels included in the latest list were three medium cargo vessels, a large tanker, a medium cargo transport, and a small cargo vessel.

The announcement raised to 1,063 the total of Japanese vessels sunk by American submarines to date, including 122 combatant ships and 941 noncombatants.

DANZIG FALLS; REDS PLUNGE INTO AUSTRIA

VIENNA DEFENSES BREACHED, CITY IN PANIC

BY ROMMEY WHEELER
London, March 30 (AP)—Russian troops invaded Austria tonight as two new Soviet offensive drives toward Vienna and Italy erupted in Hungary and southern Slovakia and Red army troops far to the north captured the big Baltic port of Danzig, hoisting the flag of the "Polish State" over the former free city.

Moscow's nightly communique announced that Marshal Fedor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian army had entered Austria—seven years after that country was annexed to Adolf Hitler's greater Reich—after crossing the frontier north of captured Koszeg, 52 miles south of Vienna.

New Offensives Opened

Earlier, Marshal Stalin had announced that the Second and Third Ukrainian armies, on the north and south banks of the Danube, had opened two powerful new offensives.

On the Danube's north bank, Russian columns burst 31 miles across southern Slovakia, breaching Vienna's Nitra River defense line.

At the same time, Marshal Tolbukhin's army opened a big drive south of Lake Balaton in southern Hungary in the 42-mile gap between the lake and the Drava River. This force advanced to within 12 miles east of the great oil center of Nagykanizsa after a 20-mile advance across territory previously won and then lost.

They captured Bochoy in their closest approach to Nagykanizsa. They also drove to within nine miles of the Yugoslav border by taking Nagyatad, 72 miles northwest of Zagreb, puppet Croat capital.

Prize For Poles

More than 10,000 German troops were captured and 39,000 killed in the collapse of German resistance in Danzig city, where the first shots of world war two were fired. Forty-five German U-boats and 131 other ships were taken in the great naval base, internationalized by the League of Nations. Danzig was the first German prize of the present war.

The raising of the Polish flag in the city of Danzig, 55 miles west of advancing Soviet spearheads reports of panic and hasty Nazi defense preparations in the Austrian capital flooded neutral and Allied Europe.

Harbor Works Destroyed

Tolbukhin's Austrian onslaught represented a gigantic left hook curling past the prepared defenses of the Bratislava gap and landing with paralyzing impact against the traffic network and defense fortresses due south of the Austrian capital.

Meanwhile, Danzig, the city which Adolf Hitler made a pretext for attacking Poland on Sept. 1, 1939, fell after four days of street fighting. Terrific artillery and aerial bombardments apparently smashed German hopes of making a German hope of the former free city. Its medieval gabled houses and cobbled streets were blasted for days by Russian shells and bombs and, destroying the great harbor facilities themselves, the Germans limited their own ability to make a sea evacuation.

Moscow announced that Red naval and air units, scouring German attempts to escape, had sunk 37 aazi transports totaling more than 200,000 tons in the last 10 days. In addition, the Germans lost a dozen escape vessels and several auxiliaries.

In capturing Danzig, the Russians avenged the 202 gallant Poles who stirred the world with their epic stand and now the Polish flag flies over the city for the first time since 1772.

SCHOOLS BACK DRIVE

Lansing, March 30 (AP)—Regional meetings to plan for the participation of Michigan schools in the Seventh War Loan drive will be held April 17 at Marquette and April 18 at Ironwood. Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, announced today.

Passover Celebrated In Goebbels' Home, With Potato Pancakes

BY ROBERT EUNSON

Muenchen, Gladbach, Germany, March 30. (AP)—The scene was Nazi Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels' home here—and the ceremony was the traditional passover festival.

About 300 American soldiers made the ancient Jewish holiday a doubly important occasion today by joining in the festival in the home of one of Naziland's most rabid Jewish persecutors.

They topped off the festival by cooking potato pancakes in Goebbels' front porch—with a corporal from Brooklyn in charge of this detail.

"It is retribution come home," said 1st Lt. Joseph Shubow of Brighton, Boston, Mass., who gave the passover service.

"On November 8, 1938, this little monkey Goebbels decreed the burning of all Jewish synagogues in Germany," Shubow continued. "We must destroy these Jewish fortresses," he said. Now we are eating potato pancakes in his dining room and celebrating our passover in his home."

Earlier today Shubow conducted services with front line divisions—the 30th, 79th, 35th and 8th armored. He delivered his sermon standing in front of a long oaken speakers' table with its set of 14 high-backed leather chairs. At the opposite end of the room was a large oil painting of Hitler and beside it was a cardboard portrait bust of a dirty-faced American doughboy with the 29th division shoulder patch. The 29th took Muenchen Gladbach less than a month ago.

Reporters fired 48 questions at him, most of them dealing with a secret agreement made at Yalta and disclosed yesterday. Under this the United States will back Russia's demand for three votes in the assembly of the world organization to be set up at San Francisco, and in turn will seek three votes for itself. The British commonwealth will have six.

The secretary of state licked his lips and grinned repeatedly as the questions rolled off at a news conference attended by 65 reporters. To most of them, he said he couldn't answer now, come back next week.

The questions centered on why the agreement was kept secret until it was smoked out by press reports, and what is the status of the "sovereign equality" principle stressed in the Dumbarton Oaks preliminary plan for world organization, and the official speeches and explanations of the plan.

Stettinius told reporters that nothing has happened to discourage him on the prospect for a successful world organization. Meanwhile another high official who would not be named assured the press that no other secret agreements on Dumbarton Oaks had been reached at the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin meeting at Yalta.

Phosphorus Tossed Out Along Highway Starts Woods Fires

Baldwin, Mich., March 30 (AP)—Small pieces of phosphorus were tossed today in six places along a stretch of Highway U. S. 16, one and a half miles north of here, a conservation department official said tonight.

The pieces of phosphorus, the official said, apparently were tossed from an automobile, and one of them was believed to have caused a fire which swept over 60 acres of land.

Another piece of the highly incendiary mineral was found near a school house after a small blaze had been extinguished.

A woman found a piece of the mineral on the edge of a wood near her home. It had started a small blaze.

State police were investigating.

Addes, CIO Official, Deferred In Draft

Detroit, March 30 (AP)—Selective service officials today announced that George F. Addes, international secretary, treasurer of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) have been deferred until June 28.

Edward D. Devine, chairman of the local board which placed Addes in a 1-A classification several weeks ago, said he had been given a 2-A deferred classification by an appeal board.

Addes, 34, passed his pre-induction physical examination last month but did not seek the deferment himself. It was requested by the UAW-CIO, which termed Addes essential to the war effort.

Penicillin Sneaked At Canadian Border

Laredo, Tex., March 30 (AP)—Twenty-six million units of penicillin hidden beneath groceries in several large boxes were seized from a bus at the International Bridge here today.

Suspicious of customs officials had been aroused when owners of the boxes did not declare them. This is believed to be the first attempt to export the valuable drug without a license.

STEEL NOOSE TIGHTENS ON 40,000 NAZIS

YANKS UNCHECKED; 5 ALLIED ARMIES SLASH AHEAD

By Austin Bealmear

Paris, Saturday, March 31. (AP)—U. S. tanks thundered unopposed across the formidable Eder River 182 miles southwest of Berlin in a 21-mile sweep yesterday and American breakthrough forces to the north threatened at any hour to trap 40,000 crack German troops in the toppling Ruhr.

Five Allied armies, powered by at least 18 armored divisions beyond the Rhine, drove almost at will through the broken German front, weakened to an almost fatal point by 60,000 captives swept up by Gen. Eisenhower's forces in the last two days.

Great Dam Seized

"There is not any organized line of defense between you and Berlin," a high-ranking German officer told his U. S. Third army captors. "There is not any organized system of government left in Germany. When you reach Berlin the whole situation will quickly dissolve."

At least two U. S. First army tank divisions and three U. S. Third army armored divisions were on the high road to Berlin, brushing past the scant resistance in gains of 20 and 21 miles respectively.

The U. S. First army scored one of the biggest tactical victories of another sensational day by capturing the great Eder dam near Hemfurth. It was taken so swiftly it was not even prepared for the demolitions that would have flooded the route to Berlin.

At the same time, the First army sent its northbound tank columns slashing through Paderborn, almost at the edge of the north German plain, 43 miles east of the eastern limits of the Ruhr.

Spearheads Unopposed

The U. S. Ninth army, breaking German resistance in the northern Ruhr after a blazing tank battle, now was possibly 40 miles beyond the Rhine.

The British seized Duellmen, 15 miles southwest of Muenster, and charged up the Muenster highway against dug-in resistance, but elsewhere their armored spearheads were reported fanning out almost unopposed in an almost solid front under a security blackout.

Westward, Canadian and British forces had cut back into Holland, possibly to seal off the V-bomb coast.

On the south end of the front, the U. S. Seventh army captured

CHILD INJURED IN CAR MISHAP

Helen Westerberg, 7, Is Seriously Hurt When Struck By Auto

Helen Westerberg, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Westerberg of 629 North Sixteenth street, suffered a serious head injury when she was struck by a car at 4:30 p. m. yesterday and was still unconscious last night in St. Francis hospital.

The accident occurred in the 300 block, Stephenson avenue, when the child ran into the street. The car that struck her was given by John Corbett, 227 North Eighteenth street, who was driving north on Stephenson avenue. Escanaba police questioned Corbett and released him. Police said witnesses reported they saw the girl run into the street from the west to the east in front of the Lewis grocery at 320 Stephenson avenue. After the accident she was taken into the store and from there to the hospital in the ambulance.

Police officers reported that tire skid marks on the pavement about 22 paces north of the place where the child was hit indicated the brakes had been applied. They added that after the accident they tested the car and found the brakes were faulty. The car struck the child and ran over her.

Last night the child was reported as suffering from shock so that x-ray examination could not be given to determine whether a fracture existed.

News From Men In The Service

Sgt. Lester C. Kenny, son of John A. Kenny, 1118 South Second avenue, Escanaba, Michigan, is now serving with the 435th Replacement company, in the Mediterranean theater of Operations, a unit responsible for the processing of soldiers returning to the United States from this theater.

Accommodating 2,000 soldiers at one time in its barracks, the company of 4 officers and 28 enlisted men, mostly ex-combat soldiers, has installed many conveniences for the homeward-bound men.

The returning soldiers, many fresh from combat, enjoy the facilities which include a bar for beer and wine, barber shop, tailor, photographer, post exchange, hot showers and a large recreation room.

Overseas 23 months, Sgt. Kenny wears the Mediterranean Theater ribbon and has been awarded the Good Conduct Medal.

Cleo F. Shafer, Nahma, has been commissioned as a second lieutenant of field artillery following his graduation from the Field Artillery Officer Candidate school.

Lieutenant Shafer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Shafer, 1056 Broadway, Benton Harbor, Michigan, was graduated from Chillicothe Business College, Chillicothe, Missouri. Lieutenant Shafer has been assigned to the Field Artillery Replacement Training Center, Fort Sill.

The Field Artillery School Officer Candidate school has graduated more than 25,000 men since its inception in July 1941, men who are now field artillery officers holding positions of responsibility with the armies of the United States throughout the world.

Pfc. John Berish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Berish, 1604 Stephenson avenue, has been transferred to the army air force base at Roswell, N. M. He was formerly stationed at Seattle, Wash.

ATC Air Base, Casa Blanca—Sgt. Harvey R. Kinberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Kinberg, Box 39, Spalding, Mich., is a mess sergeant assigned to Cazes Air Base, Casa Blanca, in the North African Division of the Air Transport Command.

Cazes Air Base, under the command of Colonel Alexis B. McMullen, is known as the Hub because of its direct line to Europe, Russia, the Middle and Far East and an average of 16,000 meals are prepared there daily.

Overseas thirteen months, Sergeant Kinberg is stationed within a five minute drive of Casablanca, European resort city on Africa's north coast where Roosevelt and Churchill once conferred.

Prior to assignment overseas, the sergeant was based at Morrisson Field, West Palm Beach, Fla. Having attended Spalding-Powers high school, Sgt. Kinberg was employed at the Hiawatha Fur Farm, Hermansville, Mich., before entering the service in September, 1942.

County And School Tax Payments Reach 90.7%

For the first time in many years, and perhaps for the first time in the history of the county, county and school tax collections went above the 90 per cent mark, according to figures from the office of County Treasurer Robert C. Pryal.

The taxes are collected by township and city treasurers to mid-March and the delinquent rolls are then turned over to the county treasurer, where the delinquent taxes are payable with an additional penalty charge assessed.

According to the returns on the 1944 county and school taxes received by the county treasurer the amount collected was 90.7 per cent or $110,900.09 of a total levy of $122,323.01. The amount delinquent was $11,422.92 or 9.3 per cent.

Last year the collections on the 1943 county and school tax was $78,626.47 or 78.7 per cent of a total levy of $99,894.13. The amount delinquent was $21,267.66 or 21.3 per cent.

The increased collections are believed due to better economic conditions generally. During the depression years the tax delinquency ranged as high as 25 to 30 per cent.

The levies, collections and amount delinquent for the cities and townships in Delta county are as follows:

ations from 8 November 1942 to 9 May 1943." Sgt. Albert J. Terrian, 614 Superior avenue, Gladstone, Michigan, was recently awarded the Oak Leaf Cluster to the Bronze Star Medal while serving with this unit in France.

The Bronze Star Medal, previously awarded, and the Oak Leaf Cluster were both earned by Sgt. Terrian while serving with the 26th Infantry in Africa.

The citation further read: "The skill, courage and loyalty with which Sergeant Terrian supervised the neutralizing of enemy minefields contributed immeasurably to the combat effectiveness of his regiment during the North African campaign."

Sgt. Terrian has been awarded nine bronze campaign Stars for battle participation in addition to the recent decorations.

He has been overseas for 36 months. His father, Napoleon Terrian, lives at the Superior avenue address.

Marshall Beauchamp ARM 2/c of the U. S. N. Air Corps, is now on the west coast completing his training having finished at Jacksonville, Florida. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Beauchamp of Nahma. He has a wife and two children who are making their home in Munising.

Pvt. Keith Beauchamp who is now in the Army Air Corps is expected to return to the states in April after being in foreign service the past three years and four months. He served in Iceland, Ireland, England and France and is believed to be with the army some where in Germany.

Keith was a member of the Medical Corps and rated as staff sergeant. He is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Beauchamp of Nahma. They have another son Pat, who has been in foreign duty in the Pacific the past three years.

He is stationed on a battleship and has participated in a number of invasions and major battles. C. Francis (Red) Shafer of Nahma, formerly of Detroit, was commissioned on March 24, as a second lieutenant from a field artillery school at Fort Sill, Okla. where he attended an officer's candidate school the past six months. He has been in the army the past three years. He is spending his furlough with his wife and infant son at the home of Mrs. Shafer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry DeRosier.

FUNERAL MONDAY—Funeral services for Julius LeCaptain, city employee, who died Thursday night, will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Anne's church. Mr. LeCaptain, who was known as a "Cap," had a wide acquaintanceship throughout the community through his many years as caretaker of the ice rinks.

Ardannie Baber Prisoner of War

Newberry—Word has been received that Ardannie Baber is a prisoner of war in Germany, since December 16, on which date he was reported missing in action. He is reported to be in German prison camp, Stalag B-9. Baber entered the service in September and was stationed at Camp Grand, Ill., and Fort McClellan, Ala., before going overseas in November of 1944.

POSITION INDICATOR

The air position indicator used on the B-29 Superfortress gives continuous latitude and longitude readings. The first device in the history of navigation to give such readings, the air position indicator is about the size of a quart milk bottle and is mounted on the instrument panel of the B-29.

BEAN SEES NEED OF PENSION PLAN

Problem Of Financing It Faced By City Of Pontiac

Pontiac, Mich.—Approval of the retirement plan for city employees was voiced by City Manager George E. Bean Tuesday evening at the city commission meeting. I do not favor cutting employees' salaries to finance the plan," he said.

Bean was asked by Glenn Rice, financial secretary and treasurer of the city employees' union, to explain his recent statement indicating that if funds from the state were not forthcoming by January when the plan would take effect the funds might have to come from an all-over reduction in employees' salaries.

"I have always favored better wages. That is my record. But I was asked where I would get the money if state revenue were not turned over to municipalities and I gave two alternatives.

(Bean had said that an increase in city service charges might also be a possibility for finding money to meet the pensions.)

"It was an honest answer to a direct question. I do not intend to evade any issues," he emphasized.

The city manager indicated that ultimately it would be up to the commission to decide how the money was to be raised. When asked by Rice why he did not give this answer for the story that appeared Monday in the Daily Press, Bean replied that he would have been giving an indefinite answer.

In a letter sent recently to the Pontiac Owners and Taxpayers association Bean wrote, "I wish to comment that a satisfactory pension is one of the most effective

Gessner Is Subject Of Newsweek Story

The magazine Newsweek, in its April 2 issue, carries a brief article, concerning Robert Gessner, formerly of Escanaba, and the scenario course he is conducting at New York university.

The article reads as follows: On two counts, Associate Professor Robert Gessner of New York University believes that his professional life is unique. So far as he knows, he is the only motion-picture professor in the academic world, and he directs the only collegiate four-year course leading to an A.B. degree in motion pictures.

Alert and affable, the 37-year-old professor is zealously convinced (1) that, although the movies have matured scientifically, screen writing has not; and (2) that seeing things in pictures is the most potent form of education.

No qualified N.Y.U. freshman is discouraged from taking a flit at movies, but only hand-picked juniors are allowed to major. And they turn out everything from Westerns to variations of "Gone With the Wind," working as directors, prop men, film cutters, and camera crews. Field trips are made to New York City studios. Hollywood helps with scripts and prints of films.

Other colleges are showing interest in N.Y.U.'s experiment. Students from Harvard and William and Mary; Dartmouth, Syracuse, and Midwestern universities are making inquiries about techniques. Among foreign students lately enrolled in the movie courses are Sigurdur Norddahl, who came from Iceland, and Fabin Chow, from China.

Approximately 100 of Gessner's former students have jobs in the motion-picture industry and more than 200 are in the armed services.

During 1944, 3,000,000 individual workers were placed in farm jobs by the local farm labor offices of the State Agricultural Extension Services.

No Pay Hike

IN refusing to establish a 40 hour work week for state employees the Michigan Civil Service Commission has stabilized state payrolls at present levels and denied the appeals of state employees for shorter hours and more money.

In refusing to grant a 40 hour work week and premium pay for overtime, Thomas J. Wilson, Civil Service director, said that the commission recognized the present demands of state employees as merely a pay raise device, that was unwarranted by concessions already made to state workers. He pointed out that since the establishment of Civil Service in Michigan's government, working hours have been reduced from 66 and as high as 68 hours per week, to 40 and 48 hours. In the same period average monthly wages of state employees have been increased from $126.92 to an average of $182.50, boosting state pay rolls more than $3,500,000 per year. In addition state employees have been granted retirement pensions, liberal sick leave and vacation with pay allowances and other benefits which remove them from comparison with industrial workers.

In any man's language, with these benefits in effect, it will be admitted by all fair-minded citizens, state employees in Michigan are being treated pretty generously and little fault will be found with the stand now taken by the Civil Service Commission.

Above all else state jobs are no longer classed as temporary employment as in the days when state jobs depended upon the political complexion of state government. State jobs, under Civil Service, are life time careers, working for a boss who can meet his pay-rolls, no matter what may be the picture in the state.

Maple Harvest Hit

EARLY arrival of spring weather this year cut deeply into the production of maple syrup in Delta county as well as in the heavier producing sections of Vermont, New Hampshire, New York and Ohio.

Deep snows in the woods prevented many farmers from getting the early run of sap, and when operations did get under way in the sugar bushes the season was brought to an abrupt end by summer-like weather.

Ohio producers estimate that last year's output of two and a half million gallons of maple syrup will be cut by one-third. In New England, where sugar bush owners have been handicapped by labor shortages and other wartime problems, production has been virtually halved.

In view of the current shortage of sweets maple syrup and sugar producers will have no trouble disposing of their products at top ceiling prices. But revenues from their sugar bushes will be far below last season's figures.

Bribers Have Friends

WHY they voted that way was not explained in the news stories from Lansing, but many Michigan citizens will wonder why certain members of the house of representatives voted against a joint resolution this week, proposing that bribe givers and takers be barred from holding public office in the future.

The resolution failed to get the required two-thirds majority. Sixty-three voted in favor, 29 against. Voting in the affirmative were 60 Republican representatives and only three Democrats. Twenty-six Democrats and only three Republicans voted against the resolution.

We leave it to our readers to form their own conclusions.

Freak Accidents

CHILDREN are playing in the outdoors again, and the newspapers are carrying news stories concerning the freak accidents of the season, some of which have proved to be fatal.

In Ann Arbor, a small boy was suffocated when a tunnel he was digging into a hill caved in on him. Two Macomb county children were painfully burned when the kite they were flying from a copper wire strand became entangled with a high tension cable near their home.

At Sault Ste. Marie, warning has been issued to parents and children to beware of dynamite caps, which disappeared from a construction job at the locks last fall. It is feared that the melting of snow might uncover the explosives, with the result that youngsters would pick them up with harmful results.

Springtime offers youngsters an opportunity to enjoy the great outdoors to the utmost, but it carries its hazards.

A Dream May Fade

AFTER John Ringling got through feeding elephants, buying new sawdust and paying all the rest of his circus expenses, he still had lots of quarters left which people paid to see the show.

With some of his profits, Ringling bought art masterpieces, and built a pink stucco museum on his estate at Sarasota, Fla. Into it went the greatest number of paintings by Rubens housed together anywhere in the world.

Then he died. In the few years since the museum was opened misfortune dogged the circus and the estate could not be settled. He bequeathed the collection to his home city, but his gift cannot yet be taken over. Some of the finest paintings are deteriorating and the museum property needs attention. If some settlement is not worked out soon, the circus master's dream will fade, and the world will lose masterpieces impossible to replace.

Cities Tackle Problems

INCREASED juvenile delinquency, heightened racial tensions and other problems of community living have been brought about by the vastly changed conditions in wartime.

To meet these problems various American communities have launched new municipal enterprises. Teen age centers and recreational programs have been established in a number of places. The trend toward supervised play has been accelerated, with several cities setting up departments of recreation with full-time directors.

These are all problems that Escanaba anticipated before the war by the establishment of a supervised recreational department. But while other communities are forging ahead in recreation, the city of Escanaba, despite its early start, now lags behind for the lack of a full-time, well-trained and capable director.

Other cities engage able men to direct their recreational programs. Certainly, Escanaba can do as well.

CALLING ALL CLOTHES CLOSETS

(Christian Science Monitor)

How often these days in crowded department stores across the United States do we hear the remark: "There's nothing like the 'lift' a spring hat or new suit gives a person after such a hard winter." And how seldom, on our shopping trips, do we think of the "lift" so desperately needed across the ocean where after six winters of war and oppression, people are emerging from caves and underground shelters, from plundered homes—free once again, but with little more than rags for clothing.

President Roosevelt has said that as many people in occupied Europe have succumbed to exposure from lack of clothing as have died from starvation, and it is reported there are about 150,000,000 in liberated countries who are in desperate need of garments, shoes, and bedding. The efforts of relief agencies and private organizations alone is insufficient to meet this great need.

Consequently a United Nations Clothing Collection Drive has been organized for the month of April under the chairmanship of Henry J. Kaiser. The goal is 150,000,000 pounds. That seems a sizable collection but the WPB estimates there are at least 200,000,000 pounds of unused wearable clothing in the country. Americans seldom fail to meet a goal when opportunity is offered to give their generosity full play. And they will wear their own new or last season's outfits with additional grace because of having shared their abundance.

At least be thankful that you can buy the belt that Uncle Sam says you are going to have to pull in.

Be it ever so humble—where else can you go but home after midnight?

At last several bridge prizes that are worth keeping have been won. Thanks to the Yanks!

Gracie Allen Says

I think I should take time out today to thank the people who responded so generously to my story on George's shorts shortage. To date George has received six or seven pairs of shorts, a bundle of pot holders, and four empty salt bags of really noble proportions. The latter at least should keep him well preserved.

This just shows you that when you make your wants known the warm-hearted American public will do everything it can to supply you. Look at Mr. Roosevelt. Every four years he says he needs votes to renew the lease on his house and the people give them to him.

And I remember reading a few months ago, when Senator Saltonstall of Massachusetts happened to remark that his wartime garters wouldn't stay up, he was practically smothered with gift garters.

Well, now that you've taken care of Senator Saltonstall and George—I wear a size 9 nylon.

IT'S PRETTY RUGGED

(Servicemen's Item)

Rugged, the favorite adjective of American fighting men in describing any violent action, is one of the most curious words in common use—who would believe that it is formed from the simple word rug, "a floor covering?"

It came about thus: In Scandinavian dialects the word rugg means "rough, entangled hair." Rugg entered Middle English as rug and took on the meaning "a piece of rough, heavy fabric." This finally

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—We will win this war and win it overwhelmingly. The Germans know that today and probably even some of the Japs. But we can throw away the victory in chaos and confusion here at home.

That's the thing that hits me coming back from the disciplined world of war to an America in the rip tide of boom-time prosperity.

The clamor to take off the controls is growing louder. Let her rip, they say. They talk about the right to profits. I saw a lot of men on the other side of the Atlantic who were not making very much profit out of the business they were in.

The killing business pays its dividends in death or, if you're lucky, in the loss of a leg or an eye or an arm.

—NEED DISCIPLINE HERE—
It is precisely now, it seems to me, that we need a little discipline here at home. We can so easily toss away the greatest heritage, the greatest hope, the world has ever known. You can almost hear the ultimate auctioneer saying, "going, going, gone." And for a nickel's worth of nothing!

When I was in Belgrade, I hired a woman to do some translating and interpreting for me. She had lived for a few years in Chicago, where she became an American citizen by virtue of the naturalization of her parents.

"I wonder," she said, "if people in America really appreciate what they have there. Sometimes I've thought that they wouldn't really appreciate it until they lost it."

We do have so much here. Every time I have come back from Europe during the past 15 years, I've been impressed all over again by that. But it is not enough simply to sit down and congratulate ourselves on our good fortune. That way, it seems fairly certain, we shall lose what we have. You can't build a wall around a lonely island of prosperity and keep that prosperity.

In Europe there is little hope. They are going to have to try to patch up a shattered and broken continent under the careful tutelage of state control. Few choices will be left to the individual in a society that must almost necessarily be regimented if it is to survive.

—INDIVIDUAL FREEDOM HERE—
Even in England, where the framework of Democracy has survived in the patient loyalties of an extraordinary people, they are thinking in terms of monopoly fostered and protected by the state. They are talking in terms of huge subsidies to underwrite the export trade essential to life on John Bull's little island.

Here in America, the individual still has some free choices. In spite of all the nonsensical talk about "dictatorship" under the new deal, in spite of wartime controls even, the pattern of individual freedom is intact. And I hope to God we keep it so.

It will not be preserved if we cast off all controls in a wild spree at the war's end. That, it seems to me, is almost the surest way to throw our magnificent heritage out of the window. It is almost the surest way to bring on the very evils we have been fighting.

By keeping the brakes on for a time and making small sacrifices now, we can come through the transition period that lies ahead with a fair degree of stability. It's a matter of balance—balancing controls against freedom. With limited controls, we should be able to stay on an even keel; we should be able to preserve individual freedom.

It is of first importance, for example, to keep the competitiveness which is at the root of our system. But there is a kind of competition that goes on to destroy all competitors, and the end is unbridled monopoly which is in itself a form of socialism. To enforce real competition, we need the anti-trust laws and we need to have them enforced.

Too many people in our immediate political past have talked about free enterprise without really meaning it. The voice has been the voice of American enterprise, but the hand has been the hand of monopoly capitalism.

That kind of double talk sometimes deceives even those who pay to listen to it. It is a dangerous self-deception, for at the end of the monopoly road is state control and that is the end of freedom.

became the word rug in its modern meaning.

Now when the loan word rugg entered Middle English it sprouted an adjective form, rugged, which meant, "shaggy; rough-hided." Then by extension, the word rugged developed thus through the centuries (now watch it grow into the servicemen's word):

1. Having a rough or irregular surface.
2. Corrugated, as with furrows and ridges.
3. Rough and difficult to surmount, as a rocky path, or mountainous trail.
4. Exhausting and punishing with hardships.
5. Fierce, violent, tempestuous, as, "The battle of Tarawa was pretty rugged."

It's hard to believe, but English is like that.

But here is another word origin that is equally strange: The word dilapidated literally means "to throw stones about." The Latin root is lapis, "stone," from which comes the word lapid, "to throw stones." Adding the prefix di-, "away from," forms dilapidare, which becomes the English dilapidate, "to scatter stones."

Therefore, if we wanted to split hairs, we could insist that only a stone building, reduced to rubble, can properly be said to be dilapidated.

Now That the Preliminaries Are Over---

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

FIRE THE ENEMY—The season of fire hazard came to the Upper Peninsula about one month earlier than usual this spring, but it is the fundamental threat to life and property. In fact this year, of all years, the danger is greater than before.

Dunathan

Reason for this is the critical shortage of men and equipment available to the conservation department to fight fires. Perhaps you are our young men in the armed forces, many others in war plants—and all working on the home front in one way or another. No longer are trucks, tractors, plows and bulldozers being made for anything except the most essential uses, and the conservation department therefore gets few of them. Old equipment is wearing out or has worn out.

All this calls for the utmost cooperation on the part of the public in keeping fires from starting.

The fire that doesn't start is the one that causes trouble to no one. Few fires start accidentally. Most of them are set intentionally—but get out of control accidentally.

YOU CAN HELP—The only way to prevent a fire from "accidentally" getting out of control is to restrain yourself from starting one in the first place.

There are some people, of course who will say that it is "necessary" to burn over the land in the spring to "remove" the dead vegetation. This is a fallacy, but they are entitled to their opinion. They are not entitled, however, to the privilege of doing the burning when it might endanger other private or public property.

THE DESTROYER—There are all too many people both in the county and in the cities who are under the impression that if pastureslands are burned over in the spring they are improved.

Of course they know, too, that fire is a destroyer, but they believe that in some strange way the soil is improved although a portion of it is destroyed.

E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent, has a word to say on that subject. He says definitely that grass burning in the spring or at any time "is not a recommended practice."

"In burning the humus is destroyed which feeds the soil and holds moisture," the county agent added. "It may be that the grass will come up a few days earlier after the grass is burned, but that does not change the real picture that you lose more than you gain when you burn pastureslands."

PUBLIC MENACE—Those who insist on burning grasslands whether or not it is "recommended practice" are only destroying the future of their own lands—so long as the fire stays on their own lands. The careless man sometimes sets the grass burning and then forgets about it.

D. H. Raess, district conservation supervisor, has some advice for men of this caliber. For when, through negligence, a fire spreads onto public lands it becomes a matter of vital interest to every citizen. It is then their land which is being damaged.

For this reason the state has set up laws for the prosecution of such negligent individuals, and has provided men and equipment to prevent such fires or, once started, to bring them under control as quickly as possible.

And this brings us back to the start of this column and the wartime reasons why fires today are more dangerous because of the

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago

Lorraine Rauls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rauls of Nahma, was elected president of the W. A. A. student organization at Michigan State College, East Lansing, recently. Miss Rauls was graduated from the Nahma high school in 1932 and was valedictorian of her class.

Spring Style Show, at which smart fashions in women's and children's apparel will be displayed by attractive models, will be presented by the Escanaba Woman's club in conjunction with the Fair Store, Tuesday evening. Models who will show advanced fashions in street, sports, afternoon and evening wear for women, are Evelyn and Esther Johnson, Catherine Semer, Helen Roche, Catherine Connelly LaViolette, Marianne Durancie Ostman and Betty Pettit and Edna Fulton of Gladstone. The children who will model are Barbara and Mary Margaret Walch, Pauline Stegath, Mary Jane and Rose Valey and Dolores Groos.

manpower and equipment shortage.

KIDS AND MATCHES—Conservation officers are unable to determine how some fires start. In other cases they know or have strong suspicion. They are also agreed that many fires are set by boys playing with matches. Here enters the question of parental responsibility. Perhaps there are some parents who do not care whether the lives of their children and of others, and the destruction of property, can result from this so-called "pastime."

PLEA FOR NATURE—So far we have talked rather selfishly of the fire risk to life and the destruction or damage to property. These are man-made things that man can destroy if he so desires.

But there is a larger and equally important element which must not be overlooked. It is the world of nature.

Nature builds slowly, contrary to the construction of material things by man. In a few years man can exploit nature and erect from nature's bones the cities in which man delights to dwell. If nature's bird and animal life, its trees and flowers and shrubs are destroyed by fire a century or more must pass before nature can fully reclaim the area.

In the marsh and grasslands each spring millions of waterfowl and other birds make their nests and rear their young. It is in these areas that fire can wreak untold havoc. Conservation officers and sportsmen have argued against the firing of these areas in the spring for they have witnessed the burning of nests and blackened bodies of hundreds of birds afterward. Waterfowl have been known to desert a nesting area for years after a fire.

The Lyons Den

By Leonard Lyons

MAJOR FRANK OWEN, who was editor of Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard before he enlisted in the Tank Corps, recently arrived here from Burma and India. One day he was introduced to General Stilwell, somewhere in the C. B. I. theatre. "Owen, are you a Colonel?" Stilwell asked him. "No sir. Not a Colonel," replied Owen. "I'm a Major in the Tank Corps, sir, not a Colonel."

"Good," said Stilwell. "Out here 'Colonel' isn't a rank. It's an epithet."

SENATOR AUSTIN of Vermont, an internationalist, has made a private poll of the Senators, and says that 64 of them are willing to support the Dumbarton Oaks agreement. This is exactly two-thirds of the Senate votes. 2,000 fingerprint experts employed by the Federal Bureau of investigation now are in the Army. All of them have been replaced at the F. B. I. by women. Harry Hopkins will return to his White House desk next week. Navy Lieut. Robert Herwig, who has been wounded twice during engagements in the Pacific, has been awarded the Navy Cross. He's the husband of Kathleen Winsor, author of "Forever Amber."

ROBERT CAPA, the Life cameraman, has been doing combat photography ever since the Japanese invasion of China. Last week Capa after eight months in France landed in Germany with the airborne troops. "There's one thing I've found out about the Germans," he reported. "During the battle they're murderous barbarians. But after it's over they always have a cousin in Philadelphia. That's what I like about the French," he added. "The French have no cousins in Philadelphia."

JOHN STEINBECK will adapt the screenplay of "Pearl of Lapa," his Mexican movie, into a novel which will be published here. Ruth Draper is the darling of the Italian anti-Fascist underground, because of the aid she constantly gave. "She understands the Italian soul," said an underground leader. "And Miss Draper understands sincerity only because she is such a great mimic." Frank Rio of the vaudeville team of the Rio Brothers, received a six-month extension from his draft board last year so that he could go on a USO-Camp Shows tour. Rio was in Germany a few days ago when he received a notice to report for induction. He showed it to the commanding officer, who decided: "You must obey it immediately." Frank Rio therefore was flown back from Germany forthwith, to report here for induction into the Army.

JOHN WHEELER, the syndicate man, met David Lloyd George in London 11 years ago. The British Prime Minister at Versailles told Wheeler: "The trouble with Woodrow Wilson was that he wasn't a politician." Phil Baker will return to the hospital next week for observation. "The only thing with which 'm' suffering," Baker insists, "is weltchmerz." Virginia Lederer, author of "Married at Leisure," sent a copy of her book to Frank Case, proprietor of the Algonquin, where she lived for many years. Mrs. Lederer, ex-wife of Orson Welles and now married to Maj. Charles Lederer, who is overseas, inscribed her book: "For Frank Case, with whom I lived longer than I've lived with any other man."

JOHN WILDBERG and Harry Wagstaff Gribble will produce "The Hump," a play written by two ATC fliers, Lt. Richard Woodworth and Lt. Howard Marshall. Woodworth returned to this country a few days ago, landed in Miami and phoned his wife in Kew Gardens. "Hello, dear," was his greeting, "how are you?" And what's happened to the play?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

DREW I. PEARSON

(Lt. Col. R. S. Allen now on active service)
Washington—Exciting war news largely obscured its significance, but this week the highest court of the land handed down one of its most important decisions in recent years—perhaps ranking alongside the Schechter sick chicken case in invalidating the NRA.

This week's case, that of Georgia V. the railroads, was largely a tribute to one man, Governor Ellis Arnall of Georgia, who is fast becoming the south's greatest leader since the Civil War. Arnall conceived the case and came to Washington to argue it personally before the Supreme Court.

His victory this week means several things. From now on, when one of the 48 states suffers because of monopoly, it can come to the U. S. Supreme Court direct, without waiting to climb up through the District and Appeals Courts. Perhaps even more important, it means that neither the Army nor the Navy nor the president can stop enforcement of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act if one of the 48 states wants to appeal over their heads to the Supreme Court.

For years the south has been beefing about freight rates fixed by Wall street bankers and the railroads they control, which discriminated against the south. For years the south has been claiming it could not industrialize as long as it had to pay rates on what it manufactured higher than the east and midwest. For years, the conference of southeast governors and various U. S. Senators have made this their chief campaign slogan.

But finally an unassuming little man from Georgia cut right to the heart of the whole matter, and without any palaver or politicking took the case to the Supreme Court—and won it.

—ARNALL ABOLISHES POLL TAX—
In all the foregoing years of beefing, no one had ever thought of doing this. But, also, no one had ever thought of doing a lot of other things with which Ellis Arnall has given Georgia the most progressive clean-out government in decades.

No one, for instance, ever thought of abolishing the Poll Tax. Northern members of Congress have been shouting about it for years. Southern Senators, in turn, have been filibustering against it. It was a sore spot in the federal body politic. But Governor Arnall decided that the south should put its own house in order, not be reformed by others. So last month he quietly abolished the Poll Tax.

Arnall accomplished this miracle by a vote of 151 to 41 in the Georgia house and a vote of 41 to 3 in the senate. Sentiment against the Poll Tax was overwhelming. Of course, the legislators knew that Arnall had unearthed a hundred-year-old law giving the governor the right to remove certain measures from the statute books. But he never really used this threat. Perhaps one secret of his success is that Arnall spent a large slice of his young life in the legislature or in state government. He knows its members and they know him. He uses friendship rather than threats.

—REDUCES GEORGIA DEBT—
Born 37 years ago at Newnan, Ga., Arnall was the son of well-to-do parents. "My granddaddy," he says, "got rich by working negroes for 25 cents a day." Since then, his grandson has maintained that "the negro problem is mostly economic; the balance political. It is not a social problem at all."

After leaving college, Arnall entered the legislature at the age of 25, became attorney general of the state at 30 and governor at 35.

One of the first things Arnall did when he entered the governor's mansion was to run across an old silver tea set which the state had presented to President Teddy Roosevelt in 1907 for the U. S. S. Georgia. However, the state never paid the jeweler for the silver. And when the crew of the U. S. S. Georgia heard that the jeweler was unpaid, they said they wanted nothing to do with the tea set and returned it. For about thirty years thereafter it has sat around the governor's mansion, a reminder of Georgia's unkept obligations.

Upon taking office, Governor Arnall told the legislature that the tea set was a reflection on the good name of Georgia and he proposed that it either be given back to Cranisha, jeweler, or else be paid for. The legislature appropriated the money.

That first act set the standard for most things Arnall has done since. He reduced the state debt from $36,000,000 to $6,900,000, and by the end of his term it will be retired completely. He did this, moreover, despite heavy increases in expenditures for schools and without increasing taxes.

—REVAMPS CONSTITUTION—
But perhaps the biggest local accomplishment of Governor Arnall was streamlining the Georgia constitution. Most people outside the south don't realize that, after the Civil War, the south adopted iron-clad constitutions to protect them against carpet-baggers. They had been the victims of unscrupulous northerners and negro politicians to such an extent that they practically locked the treasury and threw away the key.

The constitution of Georgia, for instance, had been amended 301 times. It was unwieldy and impossible. It just wouldn't work under modern, streamlined conditions. So Arnall persuaded the legislature that Georgia couldn't go forward if it depended on the past. The constitution has now been completely rewritten and passed by a unanimous vote in the Georgia house.

By ERNIE PYLE

In the Western Pacific—(Delayed)—All but six of our planes were back from their strike on Tokyo and safely landed.

The six formed a separate flight, and we couldn't believe that all of them had been lost, and for that reason our officers didn't feel too concerned.

And then came a radio message from the flight leader. It said that one of the six was down in the ocean, and that the other five were hanging around to try to direct some surface vessel to his rescue. That's all we knew for hours. When we finally got the story, this was it:

Ensign Robert Buchanan, of Clementon, N. J., was hit by flak as they were diving on their target some 20 miles west of Tokyo. Buchanan himself was not hurt.

He kept his plane up till he got over water, but it was still very much Japanese water. In fact, it was in Tokyo's outer bay—the biggest one of the two bays you see on the map leading into Tokyo.

Ensign Buchanan is an ace, with five Jap planes to his credit. He ditched his plane successfully, and got out in his rubber boat. He was only eight miles from shore, and five miles from the big island that stands at the bay entrance.

Then the flight leader took charge. He is Lieut. John Fecke, of Duxbury, Mass. He is also an ace, and an old hand at the game. He has downed seven Jap planes.

Fecke took the remaining four of the flight, and started out looking for an American rescue ship. They found one about 30 miles off the bay entrance.

They talked to him on the radio—told him the circumstances, and he sent back word he was willing to try. But he asked them to stick with him and give air support.

So Lieut. Fecke ordered the other four to stay and circle above the ship, while he went back to pick up Buchanan's location and guard him.

But when he got there, he couldn't find Buchanan. He flew for 25 minutes around Tokyo Bay and was about to despair, when he began getting sun flashes in his eyes.

He flew over about three miles and there was Buchanan. He had used his signal mirror, just like it says in the book.

In the meantime, the ship's progress was slow. It took almost two hours to get there. And one by one the aerial escort began getting in trouble, and one by one Fecke ordered them home to our ship, which was getting farther away all the time.

Lieut. Irl Sonner, of Petaluma, Calif., lost the use of his radio, and had to leave.

Lieut. Max Barnes, of Olympia, Wash., got dangerously low on gas, and Fecke sent him home. Gas shortage also sent back Lieut. Bob Murray of Muncie, Ind.

That left only Lieut. Fecke circling above the man in the boat, and Lieut. Arnold Berner, of Springdale, Ark., flying lone aerial escort for the rescue ship.

Finally the ship was past the bay entrance. The skipper began to have his doubts. He had to go within three miles of the gun-dotted island. He was within five minutes flying distance of land, and Jap planes could butcher him.

February Retail Trade Increased

Retail trade in February increased 11 percent over last year in the Upper Peninsula as evidenced by department store sales volume. The January-February total for this year rose 11 percent when compared with the same months of 1944.

Figures just released by the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis show February sales in Northern Wisconsin and Upper Peninsula, Michigan to be 3 percent above sales in February 1944. The cumulative sales to date amounted to 5 percent more than last year.

Because of heavy Easter buying, February sales at 525 department stores over the entire Ninth Federal Reserve District were 13 percent higher than in the same month of 1944 in spite of the one extra trade day last year. The two-month figures show an increase of 15 percent when compared to the same period last year.

That left only Lieut. Fecke circling above the man in the boat, and Lieut. Arnold Berner, of Springdale, Ark., flying lone aerial escort for the rescue ship.

Finally the ship was past the bay entrance. The skipper began to have his doubts. He had to go within three miles of the gun-dotted island. He was within five minutes flying distance of land, and Jap planes could butcher him.

Give 'em a chance to Grow!

It doesn't take any spade work to cultivate this kind of Victory Garden!

All it takes is common sense.

If you plant a War Bond that costs you $37.50 you get a yield of $50.00. The wisest financiers will tell you there's no better investment in the world. An investment free from every kind of risk—every future disaster! An investment that offers you, in the uncertain years to come, tangible security guaranteed by the United States Government.

Rich or poor—you cannot afford to ignore the rich return your country offers for the loan of your money, or the wisdom of this, the shrewdest investment you can make!

Buy Bonds now when your country needs your dollars to help win the war.

And once your money is safe and sound in War Bonds—don't be tempted to cash them in. Wait for the golden harvest you're entitled to—wait till they're fully matured!

Keep Faith with our Fighters—buy War Bonds for keeps!

Today's Recipes

The following recipe, which was first received by the department from Mrs. A. H. Mann, of Gladstone, is reprinted in answer to a request:

Chop Suey
Small one-half cup butter and lard mixed.

One and one-half pounds veal One and one-half pounds fresh lean pork

Four good sized onions
Four cups diced celery.
Three tablespoons corn starch
Bean sprouts and mushrooms may be added if desired.

Put fat in heavy frying pan or kettle, add onions sliced and meat in one or one-half inch cubes. Fry until very brown. Add six cups water and when meat is almost tender, add celery which should not be boiled too much, leaving it still crisp. Add bean sprouts and mushrooms before adding corn starch. Add the thickening fifteen minutes before serving.

Service with rice or chow mein noodles. This recipe serves fifteen people.

Miss Flora LaRoche, of Gladstone in answer to the recent request for a chop suey recipe suggests that the regular chicken chop suey recipe be used, with the substitution of a combination of pork and veal, or pork, veal or beef separately, as the individual desires.

Marianne Corcoran Wins Promotion

Just a few days ago at Tilton General Hospital, Fort Dix, N. J., where she is stationed, Sgt. Marianne B. Corcoran became technician third grade Corcoran.

T/3 Corcoran, whose home is in Escanaba, entered the armed services two and a half years ago, on August 28, 1942, when she was sworn in to the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps. When the WAAC was dissolved and the Women's Army Corps was formed, in the summer of 1943, she re-enlisted, as did so many of her fellow women-soldiers.

T/3 Corcoran's current assignment at Tilton General Hospital is as a surgical technician in the eye, ear, nose and throat clinic and operating room.

Upholding Michigan's eminence in the sports fishing field is the announcement of winners in the 1944 Field and Stream continent wide fishing contest. Fish from Michigan waters took two firsts out of 14 of a possible 80 awards for a percentage of 17-5 in the contest. Ten awards were given in each of the eight classifications in which fish from this state could be entered.

Both the first place winners and one of the other place winners were from Upper Peninsula waters. Only other states to score two firsts were New York and Tennessee.

Anglers taking prize winners in Upper Peninsula waters, their national ranking, where caught, weight and date:

Lake Trout
1—Edward C. Watson, Lake Superior, 53 pounds, July 26.

2—Dr. M. S. Thorsen, Lake Superior, 36 pounds, July 7.

3—K. K. Kurtz, Lake Superior, 35 pounds, August 27.

4—Dr. Bruce E. C. L., Lake Superior, 33 pounds, July 21.

Rainbow Trout
1—James S. Stephenson, St. Mary's rapids, 11 pounds, 12 ounces, July 4.

2—John McKee, St. Mary's rapids, 8 pounds, 2 ounces, August 6.

3—L. H. Erickson, Rock River, 12 pounds, 12 ounces, May 4.

4—C. M. Green, Ontonagon rapids, 8 pounds, 6 ounces, May 1.

Northern Pike
1—Albert Kobe, Gratiot lake, 32 pounds, 7 ounces, June 25.

2—Mrs. E. Fox, Lake AuTrain, 24 pounds, 8 ounces, July 16.

3—Chester Cole, Manistique Lake, 24 pounds, 8 ounces, July 7.

In the total number of entries (which included eight classifications in which Michigan anglers did not compete) Michigan accounted for 6.2 per cent and 8.2 per cent of the winning entries.

Five species of fish accounted for all of the Michigan entries.

Watson's 53 pound Lake Trout was the largest entered in the contest for more than 20 years.

Watson's trout and Cole's northern pike were first place winners in the 1944 Daily Press Fishing contest.

In checking winners in both contests at least two others from the Upper Peninsula are and that could have gone among place winners in the Field and Stream contest, if entered.

Hold Those Spears
Conservation officers are warning seekers after fish that spearfishing is illegal. May is the only month of the year in which it is legal to spear fish in inland streams of the state. The season for spearfishing through the ice was during January and February.

When spearfishing does open, pike may not be speared. Only fish that may be speared are Carp, suckers, redbreast, mullet, dogfish and garpike.

Dan Raess, district supervisor of the conservation department, had phone call from "one anxious early in the week, who queried, "Can I use a light to catch pike with my hands?"

The answer to that one is, No! On the matter of methods of taking fish or the fishing devices that may be used, the Michigan Sportsmen Fishing Law says: "Except as otherwise provided by law no person shall take, catch or kill or attempt to take, catch or kill any fish of any kind in any of the waters of this state."

The law defines a number of both legal and illegal methods, but its wording prohibits all methods that are not given its sanction.

It is the reason that the present legislature considered a bill to legalize the shooting of carp with bow and arrow.

Other points for would be spearmen of fish to remember are that it is illegal to have fish in possession during the closed season and also illegal to attempt to take them either by illegal methods or during the closed season.

Six Delta county men have already been fined for attempts to take fish illegally this spring.

When the season is closed there isn't any legal way of gaining possession, despite the help they may be in the present red point situation.

Smelt
On bushel of smelt does not make a smelt carnival, but it is encouragement to those who hope that the smelt will make a comeback. Tuesday night's catch on the Ford river, just about doubles last spring's dipping results from Delta county streams and coupled with bettered catch from commercial fishing operations during the winter seems to indicate that hopes for a comeback are not without supporting facts.

OPA OFFICIALS TO VISIT CITY

Will Explain New Regulations To Merchants

Kibby J. Treiber and Dan J. Vaughn, district office representatives of the Office of Price Administration, are scheduled to speak at a meeting at the court house on the evening of Tuesday, April 3, to explain new regulations soon to go into effect, according to an announcement by Judge W. G. Stephens, head of the Schoolcraft county war price rationing board.

The meeting is primarily for retail merchants of the county, but the public in general is invited to attend. The principle matter up for discussion will be the new regulations covered by MPR 580.

Prices in each store have been frozen to the mark-up margin that was in use on Monday, March 19.

While the new OPA regulations will not affect any price increases which were in effect on the above date, they will guarantee cheaper prices to consumers on new merchandise, Mr. Stephens said.

The "roll-back" will be at the manufacturer's level and the new prices will be based on the average level of the years 1942 and 1943.

Consumers will get the breaks when the new merchandise starts flowing to retail outlets.

In the meantime dealers are directed to prepare price charts showing their own margins over net invoice costs for all goods offered for sale on March 19.

Copies of this chart must be filed with the OPA District office at Escanaba by April 20. Failure to do so may bring severe penalties.

Seventeen Scouts
Complete Red Cross
First Aid Course

Seventeen Boy Scouts, members of three local troops completed this week the Junior Red Cross course in first aid.

The course which has been given under the instruction of Lauritz Drevdahl, has been given over a period of several weeks and covers all phases of first aid.

While this course differs and is not to be confused with the instruction the boys have been receiving in Scouting first aid, much of the instruction dovetailed with what they had learned and helped make both courses more practical.

Troop 461—William Mueller, 2nd class; Van Mueller, Star.

Trailing Arbutus
Blooming Early

The first bouquet of trailing arbutus arrived in Manistique on Thursday, picked that afternoon by Leon LaPorte of the LaPorte resort in Hiawatha township.

Mr. LaPorte states that he would have liked to see these flowers arrive a bit later because the early spring which brought them on has shortened the maple syrup season. Maple syrup, he says, will be a very light crop this season, due to unfavorable weather conditions.

GLADSTONE

PHONE 3741
REAL TO BLDG.R. CASWELL, 51,
DIES SUDDENLYRapid River Grocer Was Veteran Of First World War

Richard Caswell, 51, prominent Rapid River businessman, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at his home in Rapid River following a heart attack. Apparently in good health Mr. Caswell worked until noon yesterday when he locked his establishment for the three-hour observance of Good Friday. After dinner at his home he went upstairs to rest and it was then that he was stricken.

Caswell was born in Rapid River March 4, 1894, a son of Hans and Charlotte Caswell, and except for a period when he served with American forces in World War I resided his entire lifetime in Rapid River. For a time before entering service in 1918 he operated a billiard hall in the village and after his return he established a grocery store which he conducted successfully for the past 25 years.

Caswell served as a private in the 337th Infantry Headquarters Co., and saw active service overseas. He was wounded in France. He was a member of the Congregational church at Rapid River and was affiliated with Gladstone Lodge No. 396, F. & A. M., the Rapid River Lions club and Walter Cole Post, American Legion.

Surviving are the widow, Esther, one son, Glenn, and two daughters, Bernice and Lavina, all of Rapid River, and two brothers, Albert of Rapid River and John of Brampton.

The body was removed to the Kelley funeral home. No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

Carlson Reports
Cabin Tampering

J. P. Carlson has reported to state police the breaking and entering of his cabin on the Haymeadow River. Investigation is being made by troopers of the Gladstone Post.

Half of the total of canned vegetables and two-thirds of the canned fruits available to civilians in 1944 were preserved at home.

Churches Plan Special
Services for Easter

Somber colors of mourning and penance will be cast aside as churches of the city at special rites tomorrow celebrate the ending of Lent and the coming of the joyful Easter season.

All Saints' Catholic church the Easter Water and Paschal Candles are to be blessed this morning at 7:30 o'clock after which mass will be celebrated. Easter Sunday the masses are to be at the usual hours, 8 a. m. and 10 a. m. Wiegand's Mass in Honor of St. Teresa will be sung at 10 o'clock.

Sunrise services are to be held in the First Baptist church Sunday morning at 6 o'clock. In the afternoon there will be Baptism and holy communion service and at 7:30 o'clock in the evening the Sunday school classes will present an Easter program.

In the First Lutheran church Sunrise or early morning services will also be held at 6 o'clock Easter Sunday and in the evening at 7:30 o'clock there will be a program by the Sunday school.

The order of service for the early morning service follows:

Prelude, "Festival Episode," A. Louis Scarmolen, Miss Carol Anderson.

Processional Hymn, 130, "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today," Morning Worship Service.

Epistle Lesson, Ephesians 1:15-23.

Gradual Hymn, 129, "Day of Wonder Day of Gladness," Gospel Lesson, Matthew 28:1-8.

Confession of Faith.

Choir, "Open the Gates," Senior Choir.

Announcements.

Offertory.

Choir Anthem, "The Magdalene," Junior Choir.

Choir Anthem, "The Garden of God," by Keating, Junior Choir.

Closing Hymn, 124, "I Know That My Redeemer Lives."

Benediction and Choral Amen.

Postlude, Festival March, J. E. Roberts, Miss Anderson.

Sunrise services are also to be held in the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints Sunday morning at 6 o'clock.

Church school will be at 10 o'clock, a communion service at 11 o'clock and night.

In the Mission Covenant church Easter services will be at 10:45 o'clock at which time an offering will be taken for the foreign mission. The Sunday school will present an Easter program in the evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The order of the morning service follows:

Amid the beauty of a newly decorated church and congregation of Memorial Methodist church will worship the risen Christ at two services on Easter Sunday.

The Sunrise service will be at 6:30 o'clock when the minister preaches on the theme "The Beauty of the Lily," which is taken from an old Russian Easter legend. The morning festival of Easter worship will be held at 10:30 o'clock when the Rev. Wm. C. Donald will preach on "Easter's Answer to Earth's Tragedy." The Memorial chorists will enter the church to the processional hymn "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today" and will be led by the crucifer bearing the cross adorned with Easter lilies, symbolic of the risen Christ. Two anthems will be sung during the service and the worship hour will close with the benediction and the choral response.

In St. Paul's Ev. Lutheran church Divine services will be held at 9 o'clock Sunday morning with sermon based on 1 Corinthians, 5:6-8. Divine services with holy communion will also be held in St. Martin's church, Rapid River, at 10:45 o'clock Easter morning.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our sincere appreciation and thanks to all the kind relatives, neighbors and friends who assisted us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, Phil Maynard. We are very grateful to Rev. Karl J. Hammar for his consoling words and other manifestations of sympathy, to the pallbearers, to those who furnished their cars, sent floral bouquets and to all those who in any way helped us to bear our sorrow. These acts of kindness can never be forgotten.

Signed: MRS. PHIL MAYNARD, PHIL MAYNARD, JR. 1235-90-11.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of our beloved son Raymond, who passed away one year ago today, March 31, 1944.

The moon and stars are shining, Upon a silent grave, Where sleeps the one we dearly loved, But whom we could not save.

He left behind some broken hearts, That loved him most sincere, That never did or never will, Forget you, Raymond dear.

Friends may think we have forgotten, When at times they see us smile, Little do they know the heartaches, That our smiles hide, all the while.

But some sweet day we'll meet again, Beyond the toil and strife, And clasp each other hand once more, In Heaven, that happy life.

Sadly missed by his parents MR. AND MRS. MOSE THEORET AND FAMILY. 1121-90-11.

Thibadeau, Seamon 1/e Thurman Skarritt arrived home Saturday morning from Great Lakes, Ill., to spend the week end. He was accompanied home by his wife and daughter, Mona, who spent the winter at Chicago.

Red Cross Fund
The committee in charge of the dances which are sponsored by the school board and given each Saturday evening at the South Germfask school, turned in a donation of $20.00 to the local chapter of the Red Cross, Mrs. H. Shay.

Nine-tenths of the nation's farm households, and nearly two-thirds of the non-farm families, home-canned part of their vegetables and fruit supplies last year.

Munising News

MUNISING HAS
DULL CAMPAIGNLezotte-Gibson Mayoralty
Contest Looks Like Toss-Up

Munising, Mich.—The eight candidates, who oppose each other in the spring election in Munising on April 2, aren't making much noise about it. Except for the usual card and posters that adorn store windows and telephone poles the average citizen wouldn't know there was an election on. Although the tempo did increase a little this week both sides feel the loss of key workers who have moved away or are in the army service.

In the race for mayor between the incumbent, Evered Lezotte, and Lowell Gibson, it seems to be somewhat of a tossup.

Six names will appear on the official ballot for city supervisors with three to be elected, William Duffett and Adolore Perron, are seeking reelection, Arthur McAllister and Martin Cleven Jr., former members of the board, are again in the running. Gunnard Bjork, Francis Lincoln are seeking the supervisor posts for the first time.

One justice of the peace will be voted on to fill an unexpired term the only name to appear on the ballot. There were no candidates for the two Constable posts to be filled.

The election in Au Train township offers a little excitement in that five stiffer candidates will oppose the candidates on the official ballot. Candidates on the official ballot will be as follows:

Supervisor Russell Boogren; Clerk Roy Bonneville; treasurer, Esther Moore; justice of the peace, full term, Leonard C. Clapp, Roy LaMont; justice of the peace, to fill vacancy, Otto Morrison; member of the board of review, full term, Henry Endahl; board of review to fill vacancy, James Hebert constable, Precinct 1 Vernon Stuhl precinct 2 Richard Williams.

Sticker candidates, some who were defeated by a close margin in the caucus will be the opposition in AuTrain township.

The five sticker candidates are for supervisor, Leo Peters; clerk, James McCollum; treasurer, Arnold LaCombe; board of review, member, full-term, Arthur La Flamm; board of review member, to fill vacancy, Julius Thorsen.

Other township candidates are: Onota—Supervisor, Fred Lake; clerk, Reino Maki; treasurer, Edward Puera; justice of the peace, full term, Charles Risku; justice of the peace, two-year term, Isaac Risku; board of review, four-year term, Walter Hongisto; Board of Review two year term, William Puera; constables, Edward Mallette and Albert Maki.

Rock River—Supervisor, Nillo Vilho; clerk, Waino J. Samanen; treasurer, John Hogan; highway commissioner, John Nikkanen; justice of the peace, full term, John Gatiss and Isaac Lepanen; justice of the peace, to fill vacancy Jack J. Harsila; board of review member, full term, Arvid Aho; constables, Paul Goerts, Alfred Hill, Vilho Leppanen, Ivar Samuelson; poundmaster, Elias Lampi.

Mathias—Supervisor Edmond Ouellette; clerk William Hytinen; treasurer, John Webber; justice of the peace, three-year term; Frank Praznick; justice of the peace, two year term, Julius Sivula; justice of the peace, one-year term, Peter Hoy; board of review, full term, Robert Richmond; board of review two-year term, William Savola; constable, Thomas McGovern.

Limestone—Supervisor, Josephine M. Conster; clerk Frank Debelak, Jr.; treasurer, Evelyn Korhonen; justice of the peace, full term, Frank Heeti, Dan C. McMillan; justice of the peace, to fill vacancy, Victor Brisson; board of review, full term, Charles Storms board of review, two-year term, Frank Debelak, Sr.

Burt—Supervisor James H. Thompson; clerk, James Vaudreuil treasurer, Rex Block; board of review, 4-year term, Edward Bennett; board of review, two-year term Axel Abrahamson; justice of the peace, four year term, Alfred Lundquist; justice of the peace, three-year term, Palmer Masse.

Voters in Burt township will also vote on an amendment to allow the sale of liquor by the glass.

Munising—Supervisor, James W. Knox; clerk, Reynold Miron; treasurer, Rupert B. Nelson; justice of the peace, four-year term, Samuel Simmons; board of review member, two-year term, Harold Gamble; constables, Alex Cameron and Frank Stebbins.

There is one slip candidate in Munising township Frank Stebbins of Melstrand will oppose Reynold Miron for township clerk.

Grand Island—Supervisor, John R. Legotte; clerk, Nona M. Lezotte, treasurer, Clarence Des Jardin; commissioner of highways, George

CIRCUIT COURT
TERM IS SHORT

The March term of Alger County ended Wednesday afternoon after a two day session. There was no jury called for the session. Judge Herbert Runnels, who presided, dismissed the following criminal cases: Clarence Bailey, charged with incest, and Charlotte Nickels, charged with incest.

Other criminal cases of Jay Patterson charged with desertion and non-support, Virgil Wright, negligent homicide, Alfred Davis, indecent liberties, Loretta Roscoe, abandonment, were all continued until the next term of court in June, Louis Larson, charged with rape, entered a plea of not-guilty and the case was also continued.

There was only one sentence handed out by the Judge, to Burr Arnold who pleaded guilty to taking a motor vehicle without authority but without intent to steal and was given a two year sentence in Marquette Branch Prison.

The five civil cases on the docket were also continued and three divorces were granted.

Testimony was taken in the chancery case of Munising Lodge No. 468, I. O. O. F. of Munising, Michigan, and Neil Credlund, Arthur Rexstrew, and Frank Runset, Trustees vs. John M. Schmidt and the judge took the case under advisement. A decree

Unauthorized Trip
Causes Removal Of Gasoline Rations

The mileage rationing panel of the local war price and rationing board has revoked the gasoline ration issued to O. W. Gustafson, Escanaba, for a period of one year and the gasoline ration issued to Arthur Fillion, also of Escanaba, for a period of nine months as a result of an unauthorized motor trip to Texas, it was announced yesterday.

The action was taken following a hearing conducted at the local rationing board Thursday afternoon. The board reported that an application for rations for the trip to Texas had previously been denied Mr. Gustafson.

The action of the board denied to the two men the use of their automobiles for the periods specified. In the case of Fillion, the penalty also applies to gasoline issued for the operation of a motorboat.

TIRE SITUATION
GROWING ACUTEQuota Drastically Cut
For April; Priority
Plan Outlined

A reduction in the quota of passenger tires allocated to the Delta county rationing board in April will result in a critical tire situation in the county for the month, the local board reported yesterday.

In March the local board was allocated 250 passenger tires for certification to eligible motorists but nearly 100 approved applications could not be filled because of the lack of sufficient quota, James E. Anderson, board chairman, reported.

For April, however, the board will be allocated one-third less tires than in March and it will be necessary to distribute the certificates entirely upon a priority basis.

Four categories have been established, based upon varying degrees of essentiality. Doctors, public health officials, and ministers are included in the first category. In the second group are Red Cross workers, authorized government officials, architects and engineers engaged in essential construction, and similar occupational categories. The third and fourth lists comprise other workers requiring the use of their automobiles for occupational purposes. Nationally the quota has been reduced from 1,500,000 tires allocated in March to only 1,000,000 for April, marking the first time since March, 1944, that the quota for a single month has been less than 1,500,000 tires. Manpower shortage is primarily responsible for the reduction, the OPA has indicated.

The coal used for power and heating comes from sunlight bottled up by plants thousands of years ago.

EVERY WOODLOT
A BATTLEFIELD

ONE of the crucial battles of the war is being fought right here at home—the battle of pulpwood production. Unless we win our battle here, our boys can't win over there.

Get In The Fight!

Pulpwood is needed for hundreds of war uses. The demand has increased tremendously and the supply gone down for lack of manpower in the woods. There is only one place Uncle Sam can look for more pulpwood now—the farm woodlot. Here is your chance to have a real part in winning the war; cut all the pulpwood you can.
